Who is Chanel Cogan?
Chanel Cogan is an 18-year-old recent graduate of Redmond High School. While hiking on Saturday, July 31, Chanel fell 100 feet and was seriously injured. She is currently at Harborview Medical Center suffering from head trauma and multiple broken bones. For her full story and current updates, please visit:
www.caringbridge.org/visit/chanelcogan
Chanel is a running start student at Bellevue College and her next plan was to apply to the University of Washington, so let's pack the house to help a future Dawg in need! UW Ice Hockey is dedicating all proceeds from its Saturday, October 2 game against WSU to Chanel and the Cogan family to help reduce her medical and rehabilitation costs. We will hold a raffle fundraiser and silent auction and all ticket sales will be donated to help her cause.

What can you do to help?
We are seeking help from any local businesses willing to sponsor the event by donating goods or services for the raffle and auction. Anything and everything helps. If the event is a success, we hold a second fundraiser on October 23 against the University of Oregon.
Olympic View Ice Arena is located in Mountlake Terrace. We hope to fill the 1,000-seat rink to capacity. Raffle prizes will be drawn throughout the game along with the silent auction. All sponsors will be added to our promotional advertising including the UW Ice Hockey Website (www.huskyicehockey.com), Facebook page, flyers passed out at local events like the Boeing Classic and any media that we are able to secure.

If you would like to volunteer to help or donate goods, please contact us.
